Organisers, curators

Since 2004, the exhibition has been organised by interior designer Tamás Radnóti and textile designer Szilvia Szigeti. Both Radnóti and Szigeti completed their studies at the Moholy-Nagy University of Art and Design, and both were recipients of scholarships at the Akademie Schloss Solitude in Stuttgart. Szigeti is currently a member of the supervisory board of the Akademie Schloss Solitude. In the course of their work as designers, they have taken part in many exhibitions in Hungary and abroad, and they have been given numerous awards in recognition of their work in the profession, including the Lajos Kozma Applied Arts Scholarship, the Hungarian Form Design Prize, and the Noémi Ferenczy Prize.

In 1994, they founded the Eventuell Gallery, and in addition to the exhibitions organised at their creative studio, they have also participated in the organisation of almost 200 Hungarian and international events (for instance the Textival textile and fashion shows at the Open Air Theater and the Budapest Kunsthalle and the BútoroSOKK avantgarde exhibition at the Budapest Museum of Applied Arts, at which works by furniture designers were presented). Since 2004, they have organized madeinhungary, which focuses on works by Hungarian designers, and since 2012, they have organised the Design without borders exhibitions, which focus on international artists. Over the course of the years, they have worked together with some 4000 designers and artists.

Design Without Borders (DWB) since 2004

International design and all-arts exhibition, meeting and network

Incepted 20 years ago as an independent grassroots professional initiative, this annual international design exhibition presented primarily Hungarian designers between 2004 and 2012; then regional designers between 2012 and 2014; it then evolved into an event series presenting designers from various European countries from 2014 onwards.

Via DWB's website and social media nearly 1000 designers, fellow artists and partners are now accessible, complemented (on account of the pandemic) with innovative artistic content, virtual tours, blogs, and since 2021 more than 150 vlogs presenting the design objects, which were created with the collaboration of a contemporary dancer and a musician.

Besides the above, the online meetings, workshops and guided tours organised by the DWB platform are significant, always generating great international interest thanks to the number of participants, partners and the well-oiled international network.

Thanks to the DWB platform nearly 100 interregional and inter-genre projects great and small have been realised since 2014, including student exchanges, joint object design, larger-scale projects and exhibitions. The DWB website contains important content for designers, journalists, economic experts and researchers.

Design without borders focuses on the interoperability between genres and themes; the name is a reflection on the initiative's international nature, regional dialogue, the European sense of belonging together and the links between various art disciplines. An express aim of the organisers is to showcase the interpretation possibilities of design in a wider sense: by broadening the concept, the creative approach and innovation are placed in the foreground, which are based on constant inspiration-gathering, dialogue between groups of different social layers, professions and generations, the clashing of differing opinions and the systematic flow of information.

Following the practice of previous years, the showcased creations, objects and projects highlight the importance of the productive interaction between various fields – the visual arts and design or the visual arts and performing arts. However, the selection doesn't only highlight the creators; it also raises awareness to the importance of social responsibility, environmentally conscious thinking, sustainable development, the societal role of creators and grassroots communities and networking.
